

THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

THE GUIDE TO CASHING SAVINGS BONDS

1 Is each bond authentic and eligible to be redeemed?

→ Is the bond a Series E, Savings Note, Series EE, or Series I?

NO  Don't cash the bond. Forward the bond to the Treasury Retail Securities Site at FRB Minneapolis for processing. (Don't cash or redeem Series F, G, J, K, H, and HH or Individual Retirement Bonds or Retirement Plan Bonds.)

→ Is the Issue Date valid?

NO  Don't cash the bond. Forward the bond to the Treasury Retail Securities Site at FRB Minneapolis for processing.

HINT: Valid Issue Dates are:

Series E –	May 1941 – June 1980
Savings notes –	May 1967 – October 1970
Series EE –	January 1980 – Present
Series I –	September 1998 – Present

→ Does the Issue Date match the bond's Printed Date?

NO  Use caution. Some bonds may have legitimate variation in dates, generally when the bonds were reissued as a result of a claim or reissue transaction.

If you are at all unsure,  Forward the bonds to the Treasury Retail Securities Site (FRB Minneapolis) for processing.

HINT: Price bonds using the Issue Date, NOT the Validation Date. Be sure to compare the Issue Date with the Validation Date for obvious errors on bonds that were issued Over the Counter (OTC). For example, an Issue Date may show 1/02 while the Validation Date shows 1/2/03, or vice versa.

→ Has the bond been held for the minimum retention period of 12 months?

NO  Don't cash the bond. It's not yet eligible for payment. Explain to the customer that the bond must be held for the minimum holding period.

Step 1. Bond Authenticity and Eligibility

- Has information printed on the savings bond been altered in any way?
- Has the bond been mutilated or defaced in any way?

NO

YES

Don't cash the bond if there's any indication that someone has visibly, physically changed the names, addresses, issue dates, or any other information. For example: the person added a name to the front; there appear to be erasures; someone changed or tried to change the issue date.

HINT: Check for variations in the font and type size. There should be none.

HINT: Check to be sure the printed area of the bond (the inscription on the face of the bond) is aligned LEFT. Any variance in alignment indicates changes.

- Is the bond a photocopy or some other kind of copy?
- Are there any noticeable irregularities in the texture, feel, or appearance of the bond?

NO

YES

Don't accept or cash any bond that appears to be copied. Is it printed on bond stock? Is it black and white? (Color copies are no guarantee – printers are getting more sophisticated.) Check the back of the bond for two things: (1) reference to regulations and (2) signature lines printed on the bond. Finally, make sure everything lines up correctly – check for any slight slants or off-kilter printing or graphics.

HINT: Check for serrated edges on newer bonds (where they were printed, perforated, and separated). Be aware that many older bonds do not have serrated edges, however.

HINT: Does your institution use Savings Bond Pro? If a presenter actually asks you if the bond is good, that's a tip that he or she knows it may not be. Savings Bond Pro allows you to verify bonds' serial numbers against a Treasury file of bonds reported lost, stolen, or never received. It's updated about every six months, so there's always a chance the information is not complete. In this case, follow already established bank procedures to forward the bond for processing. Click here to find out more (http://www.treasurydirect.gov/instit/savbond/price/bondpro/bondpro_features.htm).

2 Is the person cashing the bond entitled to it?

→ Is the customer named as owner or co-owner ("or") on the bond?

YES

NO

Is the customer:

- a parent of a minor who is named as owner or co-owner? GO to 2-a
- named as beneficiary? GO to 2-b
- requesting payment as a legal representative? GO to 2-c

NO to ANY

Don't cash the bond. Forward the bond to the Treasury Retail Securities Site at FRB Minneapolis for processing.

HINT: if there is a "Mail To:" name printed on the bond, that person is NOT a registered owner and is NOT entitled to payment.

→ Do you have any reason to think the person requesting payment might not be the actual owner, co-owner, or other person named on the bonds, even though he or she seems to have the same name as one of those printed on the bonds?

YES

Don't cash the bonds. This might happen if two people in the same family have the same name. For example, the presenter is a Jr., Sr., I, II, III but there is no suffix on the bond (or vice versa). The names are the same with the exception of the bond showing either a different or no middle initial.

→ Has the person signed the Requests for Payment on the backs of the bonds in your presence?

YES

NO

Don't cash the bond until the customer signs or re-signs in our presence.

→ Do the SIGNATURE and NAME match the name on the bond exactly?

YES

NO

Use caution. Is it an obvious difference, like a shortened first name, a maiden or married name? Have them re-sign, note the explanation, and proceed. If it's not obvious or the explanation doesn't satisfy you, don't cash the bond.

HINT: If the names don't match, remember that it could be a situation where family members share names or suffixes are different.

→ Is the social security number on the bond the customer's?

→ Is the address on the bond the customer's current address?

And then proceed.

→ Is the social security number on the bond the child's?

YES

NO

YES

NO

If the legal representative was NOT designated on the bond by name and fiduciary title but WAS appointed by the court to settle and represent a decedent's estate, go to 2-d Legal Representative Not Named on Bond.

YES

NO  The customer may not request payment. The bond belongs to the estate of the named owner who died last.

HINT: When two people named on a bond (as co-owners or as owner and beneficiary) are both dead, that bond belongs to the estate of the person named on the bond who died last. In this situation, reject any request from anyone acting for or representing the estate of the person who died first.

2 e Make Clear and Complete Notes

Here are the notes you'll need to make on the bonds or in a separate record for death certificates and evidence of authority or appointment:

From each death certificate:

- the document number or case number,
- the name and location of the issuing authority, and
- the date of death of each person named on the bond.

From the evidence of authority or appointment:

- the document number or case number,
- the date of issuance or full force and effect certification, and
- the name and location of the issuing authority.

3 Can you verify the customer's identity?

There are three kinds of identification you may use:

- the individual is an established customer of your financial institution
- the individual is identified by another person
- the individual presents an identification document (used only for payments of $1,000 or less)

3 a Individual is an established customer

- ➔ Does the customer have an account with your financial institution?
- ➔ Is the account at least six months old?

Is the answer
YES to BOTH?

Is the answer
NO to EITHER?

Go to 3-c.

- ➔ Does the customer's signature on the bonds match that person's signature on file at your institution?

YES

NO

Don't cash the bond. Request help from a supervisor or officer of your bank.

Make notes. Before cashing the bond, clearly note the identification you are using to verify the customer.

- Type of account,
- Account number, and
- Date account was established.
(Ex: "Ck Acct 3421, 4/1/80")

3 b Individual is identified by another person

- ➔ Is the customer with another person who's an established customer of your financial institution?
- ➔ Does the identifier know the customer by the name on the bond?

Is the answer
YES to BOTH?

Is the answer
NO to EITHER?

Go to 3-c.

HINT: The established customer must have had an account open for at least six months or be well known to an officer at your financial institution.

Step 3. Verifying the Customer's Identity

→ Does the identifier reliably know the customer?

→ Is their acquaintance of sufficient duration?

NO  Go to 3-c.

HINT: Personal identification based on a casual acquaintance isn't reliable. Ex: a brief landlord-tenant relationship or identification made of patrons by owners or employees of hotels, bars, restaurants, bowling alleys, etc.

Make notes. Before cashing the bond, have the identifier sign the back of the bond, and clearly note what kind of identification you accepted. Include:

- name and address of the identifier,
- relationship, and
- length of the acquaintance.
(Ex: "John Smith, 98 Oak St, ex-college roommate, 10 yrs")

3 c Individual is identified through documentation

→ Does the customer have a motor vehicle operator's license or state identification card?

NO  If the customer:

- has another form of ID, check the document lists in Step 4, confirm it's acceptable, and then continue.
- Doesn't have acceptable ID,  Don't cash the bond.

The customer must take the bond to a financial institution where he or she is an established customer or must contact the Treasury Retail Securities Site at FRB Minneapolis.

→ Does the ID appear genuine and meet the specific requirements for the type of document?

NO  Don't cash the bond. The customer must take the bond to a financial institution where he or she is an established customer or must contact the Treasury Retail Securities Site at FRB Minneapolis.

HINT: A motor vehicle operator's license or state ID must have a photograph or physical description of the customer, be signed by the customer, and be countersigned or otherwise validated. See the Document Table if you have questions.

Step 3. Verifying the Customer's Identity

→ Is the name on the identification the same as the name on the bond?

YES

NO

Is it an obvious difference, like a shortened first name, a maiden or married name? Have the customer re-sign, note the explanation, and continue.

If it's not obvious or the explanation doesn't satisfy you, or if the presenter and the owner have the same or similar names but you're aware they're not the same person:

Don't cash the bond. Request help from a supervisor or officer of your financial institution.

→ Is there a picture and/or physical description that matches the customer?

YES

NO

Don't cash the bond. Request help from a supervisor or officer of your financial institution.

→ Do the signatures on the ID and the bond match?

YES

NO

Don't cash the bond. Request help from a supervisor or officer of your financial institution.

Make notes. Before cashing the bond, note the identification you accepted. A motor vehicle operator's license notation must be readable and include the issuer and the number. EX: "NY D/L A07346-9975-73882." Refer to the document tables in Step 4 for requirements for other documents.

4 c Unacceptable Documents

These and similar documents are inadequate for identification because they don't contain both a physical description and a validated signature, and they are usually easy to obtain without having to establish identification to the issuing authority.

However, for payments of $1,000 cash value or less, paying agents may request both this kind of identification as well as additional acceptable documents to corroborate identity. This might be helpful if the presenter doesn't have a six-month-old or older account with the institution.

- Armed Forces discharge or separation documents;
- Automobile registration certificates;
- Birth and marriage certificates;
- Credit cards or plates;
- Health or other insurance policy holder cards;
- ID cards purchased from commercial ID business;
- Organization, union, professional, etc., membership and identification cards;
- Passbooks - banks, etc.;
- Selective Service classification cards;
- Selective Service registration certificates;
- Social security cards; and
- Voter registration cards.

5 Making a Payment

- Have you made clear and complete notes describing the identification documents used to verify the customer? That's important because image quality and readability is necessary when considering liability for any future losses resulting from improperly cashed savings bonds. So here's a guide:

For Existing Customers → Show the complete account number and type of account as well as the date the account was established. (Ck Acct 3421, 4/1/80)

For All Customers → Write on the backs of the bonds with readable, clear notes. Up to 10 years later, your notes must be clear enough so we know what identification and documents were accepted and how you established the person's eligibility.

It's the same for notes about legal documents – make them complete and clear so we can easily retrieve documents from a court or agency.

You may keep notations in separate records, but remember that your institution must have those records easily accessible for 10 years.

- Have you noted the correct financial information? When paying the bond, be sure to pay and show the Current Redemption Value (CRV) of the bond, not just the Interest Paid amount.

Stamp each bond with a "PAID STAMP." The stamp must show:

- The full Current Redemption Value (CRV)
- Initials of the employee cashing the bonds
- The transaction date
- Name and location of your branch or office

Be sure the PAID STAMP does not cover up or print over information already on the bonds, such as:

- Serial Numbers
- Addresses
- Names
- Issue dates

6 Final Steps For Internal Processing

When imaging bonds for Check 21 submission, be sure the bond is not folded to obscure essential information (stamps, requests for payment, serial numbers, signatures, etc.). Be especially careful when imaging the larger Series E half-sheet bonds to ensure no information is obscured.
